APPENDIX 1 – GLOSSARY	76

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this character area appraisal is to provide guidance to Council members, prospective planning applicants and development management staff to ensure that new development within the designated 'Residential Areas of Special Character' (RASCs) identified by Test Valley Borough Council (TVBCLP) is appropriate to its surroundings, helps to retain the character that gives each area its identity and accords with Policy E4 in the adopted TVBC Revised Local Plan Document 2011-2029 (TVBCLP).

1.2 Relationship to the Revised Local Plan

This report has been prepared to support Policy E4 in the adopted Revised Local Plan, in this case in the context of the Chilworth RASC;

Policy E4: Residential Areas of Special Character

Development within residential areas of special character in Andover, Chilworth and Romsey identified on map 57 – 61 will be permitted provided that:

- a) The size of any proposed or original plot, when sub-divided, is not significantly smaller than those in the immediate vicinity; and
- b) The development's size, scale, layout, siting and detailed design are compatible with the character of within the Residential Area of Special Character.

2. METHODOLOGY

2.1 Approach

The application of Policy E4 requires both the existing plot sizes within the RASC (referred to under criterion a) and the detailed characteristics of existing development (referred to under criterion b) to be taken into consideration, requiring a detailed character appraisal of the area.

To achieve this the approach has been to utilise the methodology described by Hampshire County Council (HCC) in the Hampshire County integrated character assessment <http://www3.hants.gov.uk/landscape-and-heritage/hampshire-integrated-character-assessment.htm> which defines and maps a range of 32 generic Townscape Character Types and goes on to identify geographically unique character areas. Although Chilworth was not included in the County Council's study the approach still provides a useful starting point and has been refined to carry out a more detailed level of assessment, considering an extended range of features for analysis which include the following elements.

Neighbourhood

- Character Type: as defined in the Hampshire Integrated Character Assessment where appropriate
- Landform

Streets/Squares

ANNEX 4

Test Valley RASC Character Appraisals - Chilworth

- Form: summary of reason for definition (ie: branched access points off rural lane)
- Trees
- Any other uses, type of development
- Access, connectivity: including route structure
- Spatial enclosure i.e. ratio of width to height, dimensions across the street between the faces of buildings against building/eaves height
- Special features, features which are particularly significant or distinctive within a character area and have a bearing on the strength of character e.g unusual architectural details, a clear geometric layout , an avenue of large trees
- Nodes/Landmarks/Views
- Parking

Plots

- Relation to public realm
- Plot Characteristics: size, scale
- Building lines
- Position of building within plot (siting)
- Plot boundaries: walls, fences, hedges
- Planting
- Parking

Buildings

- Scale, storey height
- Façade, roof form
- Materials: walls, roofs

Other Features

2.2 Data Review

Data used in the analysis included Ordnance Survey maps, aerial photographs and historic maps

ANNEX 4

2.3 Desktop analysis

Desktop analysis was principally undertaken using OS Master Map base maps, aerial photographs, historic maps and information on development density provided by TVBC.

Consideration was given to higher level attributes and characteristics including :

- Generic character type
- Position relative to wider topography
- Plot size and density
- General context and different land uses
- Relationship to route hierarchy and block pattern, route hierarchy was classified as;
 - arterial route
 - main road
 - side road
 - lane
 - culs-de-sac
 - other (e.g. gated estate)
- Relationship to main settlement
- Street place types
- Plot types
- Period of origin

The result of the desktop analysis enabled an initial breakdown of the wider RASC areas into smaller character areas and the partial completion of a tabular pro forma for each area summarising the higher level defining characteristics.

2.4 Field survey

The field survey involved a detailed appraisal of each draft character area on foot as perceived from the public realm. Photographs were taken to illustrate the character areas and accompany the written descriptions the viewpoints are marked for each character area with an arrow and the reference points numbered as follows;

For example 1A2 where 1 represents the study area (where relevant), A refers to the individual character area, 2 refers to the number of the photograph.

Those attributes which could not be covered through the desk top analysis were completed including (where relevant);

- Vegetation

ANNEX 4

- Frontage features and boundaries
- Surface materials
- Views and landmarks
- Parking
- Building heights
- Facades
- Building materials
- Architectural details
- Roof form
- Perceptual aspects (overall impression as viewed from the public realm)

Judgements were also made about the strength of character based on the range of features that define an area and the extent and consistency with which they were represented on the ground.

2.5 Characterisation and guidance

Guidance principles for each of the character areas were produced, identifying those key features to be retained, managed or enhanced.

3. CONTEXT

3.1 The appraisal area

(p7).

This document is specific is for three RASC areas encompassing Chilworth, near Southampton. The areas are shown on Figure 2 - Chilworth RASC Study Areas (p9). The study areas have been subdivided into Character areas with an appraisal for each one with a summary description including a road name.

Area 1 – Character Areas 1A – 1G (p10)

Area 2 – Character Areas 2A – 2H (p32)

Area 3 – Character Areas 3A – 3F (p57)

3.2 Development history

The evolution of development in the areas studied can be traced through the historic OS maps and it is usually also reflected in the form of development as it relates to the route hierarchy of an area.

3.3 Character types

The Chilworth RASC was not included in Hampshire County Council's integrated character appraisal, so the generic character types identified in urban areas are not relevant here.

4. USING THIS REPORT

4.1 Guidance

Section 1 sets out the detailed appraisals for the RASC areas for Chilworth shown in Figure 2.

For each of the character areas a series of guidance principles have been produced based on the data from the site surveys. The guidance principles are intended to assist development management staff and prospective planning applicants ensure that new development serves to retain the character that gives each area its identity. With reference to criterion a) of the TVBCRLP policy E4 concerning Residential Areas of Special Character the 'immediate vicinity' referred to should be taken to include those plots within each individual character area. When proposals for subdivision of plots are made for example, the effect on all the other plots within the same character area should therefore be given particular consideration. The document does not of course obviate the need to treat each development proposal on its own merit.

In general terms the Chilworth Residential Area of Special Character owes much of its character to low density housing with substantial properties set back from the road, often behind tall hedges in well treed plots. This type of development of low density dwellings makes an important contribution to the character and appearance of the area. Policy E4 does not seek to restrict development however it seeks to retain the distinctive local character that makes the special character of Chilworth.

In this context proposals for higher density development have to be considered carefully to ensure that cumulative effects associated with an increase in domestic activity and vehicle movements will not be of a type of development that would be uncharacteristic of the area as this could result in an increase in noise, disturbance and loss of amenity and character. Further intensification of development would also apply pressure to those parts of the area served by roads and lanes without footways where road improvements or footway provision would result in the loss of grass verges and the further erosion of local character.

4.2 Description tables

These tables identify the characteristics of each character area for a range of key criteria from neighbourhood level down to the design of buildings.

The purpose of the table is to provide a design code for the makeup of each character area which can be used to ensure that new development retains the character that gives each area its identity, in particular the table should be used to obtain the more detailed information required to implement the guidance principles identified.

APPENDIX 1 – GLOSSARY

Arterial route	high-capacity road with many branch roads.
Backland development	development located behind existing buildings, usually on the ends of long back gardens.
Bay window	a window that projects out from the façade of a building forming a space in the interior.
Building line	the line created by the front edge of a series of adjacent buildings. Where there is public realm to the rear as well as the front of plots, the character area description will always refer to the building line along the frontage.
Building setback	the distance between the front edge of a building and the front boundary of its plot.
Context	the setting of a site or area, including factors such as traffic, activities and land uses as well as landscape and existing buildings.
Cul-de-sac	street with a single point providing both entrance and exit.
Dormer window	a window providing light to a roof space set within a structure with walls and a roof.
Gable end	the face of a building with a simple double or single pitched roof resulting in a triangular shape to the top of the wall.
Hipped roof	a roof in which the faces are pitched on all sides of the building from a common eaves line.
Landmark	A building or structure that stands out from its background by virtue of height, position, size or some other aspect of its design.
Node	a focal point or meeting place, often located at the intersection of key routes.
On plot	within the property boundary, generally used with reference to parking spaces.
Public realm	the areas of a settlement for the general use of the public such as streets, squares and parks, most frequently in the ownership and control of a public body.
Spatial enclosure	the clear and continuous definition of a street space or square by buildings or planting. Enclosure is principally determined by the relationship between the height (A) of adjacent buildings and the distance (B) between them. It is the three dimensional mass of the buildings together, to a lesser extent, with the trees visible from the public realm, that determine the enclosure of the street. The more 'urban' the character of an area, the more highly enclosed it usually is and the more highly defined the built 'edge' is. Whilst this pattern has evolved in response to increased land values towards the middle of urban centres, it has also led to various beneficial consequences. In this context one relevant effect is that the degree of enclosure provides an unconscious signal to visitors to the area about the character of the street in relation to its proximity to an urban centre. This is crucial to support the legibility of an area.

Test Valley RASC Character Appraisals - Chilworth

Degree of enclosure is also relevant here as a general determinant of the character of a particular street or section of street. In a street of relatively uniform degree of enclosure, a development which changes this uniformity can be resisted on the grounds that it would inappropriately weaken the overall strength of character or that it would set a precedent, which over time would change the legibility and perception of the where the street stands in the hierarchy of streets.

$$\text{Ratio of street enclosure} = \frac{B}{A}$$

This diagram illustrates how street enclosure (ratio of street width to building height) is measured. Building height is also described in the following ways (1) overall height in metres (2) height to eaves (3) height in relation to neighbours or height in storeys.

Topography

the three dimensional surface features of the ground surface, also referred to as land-form; also a description or representation of those features.

Route structure

the hierarchy of route types which define a movement network.
